"Doctor Indoctus," a philological work by Fitz Edward Hall, which created considerable ment and discussion among scholars both here and in England on its first appearance a short time ago, has been withdrawn from sale in Eurland. Inquiries for it here have been many, but the work is now in fair way to take its place among scarce books, and those who were lucky enough to get copies of it may well congratulate themselves and laugh at their less fortunate friends.

There is often sharp frony in literary as well as in political history. Dr. Ernsmus Darwin, the father of Charles Darwin, wrote a didnite poem called "The Loves of the Plants," which is now forgotten by the greater part of mankind. In its day it caused as much amusement perhaps as applause. At any rate a parody on it was printed in a periodical of the time under the title "The Loves of the Triangles," which amused crowds of people at the Doctor's expense. amused crowds of people at the Daniel Manches Nowadays the parody is better known than the original, and in a recent English book, in a reference to the medical poems of Heraclitus of Rhodes, it is observed that to modern taste they are probably as unforteresting as Darwin's "Loves of the Triangles."

M. Renan's Hibbert lectures on the connection of Rome with early Caristianity and his Royal Institution lecture on Marcus Aurelius are published here a striking example of the rapidity in book-making which can be reached in this country. A copy of the lecture in the original French was received in Boston only last week, and it was translated, stereotyped, printed, bound and published within a single week. Clara Erskine Clement made the translation. These lectures created a profound interest in London, it being necessary, in order that all should hear them who wished to do so, to repeat them on the day following their first delivery. The title of the book is "English Conferences."

Mr. Charles T. Congdon's "Reminiscence of a Journalist." which have appeared regularly in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE since the issue of that paper was begun, will be collated this Fall into a handsome volume of 400 or 500 pages. Mr. Congdon will give to each of the papers a careful revision, and add to them as an introductory chapter a paper on autobiographies in general. There is not in literature a more delightful class of books than the autodographics of men who have followed some literary calling, and the favor which Mr. Congdon's series has met with-almost unexampled for a Congron's series has more what a secures for his volume line reception which it so well ments from the public. His publishers will be Messis. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. of Boston. The work will thus bear in imprint which is intimately associated with much that is best and most lasting in American letters, and it would seem that to such good literature as has been produced in these weekly papers a distinction of this kind rightly belongs.

Among the letters in the new volume of the "Weilington Dispatches" there is one from Lord Aber-deen, which contains the following reference to Charles X., whom he saw during the fallen King's residence at Helyrood after the revolution of 1830: "In passing through Edinburgh, I saw Charles X. at Holyrood House and found him in a wretched, cold, unfurnished bed room. He was in good health and spirits. He entered into a long justification of his conduct, and maintained that everything that has happened would have taken place three weeks earlier had he remained quiet. He says that he committed but one error, and that was a says that he committed but one error, and that was a fatal one. They expected some little resistance to the ordinances, and slight disturbances, for which they thought they were prepared; but he could with the greatest case have assembled twenty or thirty thousand additional troops, and this he ought to have done. Although explaining the fail course of his proceedings, he never finitioned Poligiac. He spoke fill of no one save Louis Philippe, whom he abused a good deal. He appeared to be quite confident of a restration—that is, of Henry V., for, he said, with respect to himself, and his son, they neither of them wished it."

MINES AND MINING.

FRIDAY, July 2-P. M. This was another day of depression for the Leadville properties at the Mining Stock Exchanges, while the stocks of other localities were steady or higher. Chrysolite fell from 1512 to 1312@1378. Little Chief from 9 to 812, Chmax from 2.45 to 2.40, Leadville from 90 to 80, and Amie from 83 to 75@76. Consolidated Virginia was firm, rising to 3.45, but California declined to 2.05. At the American Board Silver Nugget was 5 cents lower at 1.65, Barbee and Walker 18 higher at 514, and Columbia Consolidated 18 lower at 438, the other special stocks of that board being steady. Hukill weakened to 1.60 and closed at 1.70. against 1.65 yesterday. Ophir sold at 634, and Sierra Nevada at 1238. At the old board the low price stocks generally were a little better. But Moose first fell from 78 to 72 and later recovered to 78. South Bulwer rose from 71 to 80, and May Belle to 34. The market closed quiet.

FRIDAY, July 2-P. M. Our usual weekly review, printed below, of the movements of grain at the principal Atlantic ports closes the half year ending June 30. It seems that the total receipts at the ports of New-York, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Boston for the six months of this year were 5,311,349 bushels more than for the same six months of 1879. New-York has gained 8.445,715 bushels, while the other three ports have lost 3.134,366 bushels. Of the deliveries at New-York, the canal this year delivered 11,225,024 bushels more than it did last year, and all the railroads 2,702,213 bushels less than they did last year. At Buffalo the deliveries by lake vessels since the opening of navigation have been 24,112,559 bushels more than to the same data last year, and the railroad deliveries for the same time show a gain of 2,571.550 bushels. The shipments from Buffalo eastward to date this year by the canal have been 12.337,831 bushels more than in 1879, and during the same time (from the opening of navigation) the railroads have gained 6,611,615 bushels. But it should be remembered that navigation this year opened from two to three weeks-ear lier than it did last year. At Chicago the receipts from January 1 to June 30 this year were 5,289,213 bushels more than for the same time in 1879, and the shipments were 11,211,732 bushels greater in 1880 than in 1879. At Milwankee the against 347,926 shares yesterday. The "boom" of and from the opening figures there quickly followed a decline ranging from 34 to 2 per cent. After that the market presented little more than the fluctuations of a brokers' market, with a gravitation toward lower figures. The dealings in Eric were only 60,000 shares, against 107,000 shares yesterday and 102,000 shares Wednesday, and it finally closed the same as it did last evening—a doc. yesterday and 102,000 shares Wednesday, and it finally closed the same as it did last evening—a de- Atlantic ports this 2d day of July were: cline of 78 per cent after a trading covering 270,000 shares since Wednesday's opening. But Erie and Lake Shore were the strong stocks of today. There is some talk about bad weather reports from the Northwest which have injured the prospect of the growing crops in that part of the country, but they were contradicted, and the quescountry, but they were contradicted, and the question is left in dispute between authorities of equal | The following were the receipts and supusate character. Because of this talk the stocks of the railways of the Northwest were specially pressed for sale, and St. Paul declined from 793, to 774 @7778. Northwest following from 92 to 911s. The coal stocks also were specially weak, and show losses from last evening's figures ranging from la for Delaware and Hudson to 14 for Delaware. Lackawanna and Western. The elevated railroad shares were an exception to the general market, and rose, despite the general weakness. The market closed dull and weak. Government bonds were dull and steady for all issues except the 6s of 1881, the biddings for which were reduced 4 per cent. The transactions at the Board amounted only to $62,500. District of Columbia 3-65s were strong with sales at 97%. Annexed are the closing quotations:

| Sid. Asked. | Sid. Asked. | Sid. Asked. | C.S. 6a '80, conp. 1014, 1024 | U.S. 4a 1907, conp. 1014, 1024 | U.S. 4a 1907, conp. 104, 108 a, 1 State bonds and city bank stocks were entirely neglected, the quotations for each being steady. The dealings in railroad bonds dwindled to very small proportions and the changes in prices generally were unumportant. Erie second consols fluctu ated between 89 and 8812, closing at 8858 against 88% yesterday. Missouri, Kansas and Texas first consols were 38 higher at 10378, and the seconds 12 higher at 6314, after selling up to 635s. St. Louis and Iron Mountain second debentures fell from 75 to 73 and recovered to 74. St. Paul consols were 38 lower at 112. The transactions at the Sub-Treasury for the week ending to-night included receipts of $9.240,531 and payments of $11,894,275, resulting in a loss to its general balance of $2,053,744, and leaving it at $93,408,271 against $96,062,015 June 25. The particular changes of the week are a loss of $833,201 currency and a loss of $1,820,543 coin. The week's receipts include $3,000,000 coin received fram the mint, so that the week's payments excerd the ordinary receipts by more than $5,600,000. Money was still easter, leans on call being made at $2,222 per cent. The domestic exchanges on New-York are as last quoted. The United States Treasurer at Washington to-day received $180,000 in National bank notes for redemption. The customs receipts were $710,000, and the internal revenue receipts were $710,000, and the internal revenue receipts were $710,000, and the internal revenue receipts were $710,000. The following is the Clearing House statement to-day: Exchanges, $146,819,442; balances, $8,207,308. The transactions at the Sub-Treasury covered: Receipts, $1,114,851; payments, $4,350,717; currency balance, $6,837,805; com balance, $86,570,464.
